1 Bunk beds painted in Farrow & Ball's 'Hague Blue' make savvy use of space in this small room. Under the lower bunk is a deep storage drawer and there is a built-in shelf at the head of the bed. Painting the skirting and cornice the same shade as the beds ties the scheme together. Designer: Salvesen Graham. salvesengraham.com 2 A stack of pretty mattresses, inspired by The Princess and the Pea fairy tale, doubles up as a pull-out bed for sleepovers in this young girl's room. A screen marks the division between the bed and the desk area, which is highlighted by a hand-blocked wallpaper from Hamilton Weston. Designer: K&H Design. kandhdesign.co.uk 3 The drawers and shelves in this room provide storage for books, toys and clothes and look great thanks to the distinctive scallop edging, which is echoed in the handle-less drawers. It is playful rather than childish, making it more likely to stand the test of time. Designer: Giancarlo Valle. giancarlovalle.com 4 A panelled recess and two cupboards (one out of shot) frame the bed in this room. Farrow & Ball 'Mizzle' light green paint picks up on the checked fabric of the curtains and bed. Designer: Hugh Leslie. hughleslie.com

5 The pitched ceiling in this bedroom is accentuated with stripes in Farrow & Ball's 'Rectory Red' and Paint & Paper Library's 'Slate I'. It adds a theatrical element to an otherwise pared-back space. Designer: Turner Pocock. turnerpocock.co.uk 6 An antique wooden bed with a coronet canopy doubles as a daybed and is surrounded by papier-mâché animal heads from Edit58. The result is a charming room that will be easy to adapt as the child grows. 7 This boy's bedroom has lots of fun details – a ceiling mural depicts the shadow of the suspended plane, while its trail is mapped out in ticker tape that runs down the wall. The curtains are in 'Moondog', a Chelsea Textiles embroidered blue linen by Kit Kemp, which features moons and dogs. They are lined with a red ticking. Designer: K&H Design. kandhdesign.co.uk 8 Murals and scenic wallpapers are a creative way to introduce a fantastical element to a child's room. This wallpaper mural by American artist Rebecca Rebouché depicts an enchanted forest and an underwater tea party, and provides a magical background for the French-style beds, wooden chest of drawers and fluffy rug. >
